The "Golden Rules" of DIPLOPHOBIA --

The GM is doing all he can to keep the games moving and help the players get as much enjoyment out of them as possible. But his success at doing so ultimately rests upon the shoulders of the players themselves. Without their cooperation, the efforts of the GM are doomed to failure. Following are a few things you, as players, can do to help the GM do a better job of serving you:

1. Don't be a "drop-out" -- stick it out, no matter how bad your position. Drop-outs cause the GM mucho extra work, and often spoil the game for the other players.
2. If you must drop out, at least have the courtesy to give the GM advance notice, and to continue playing for another move or two, if necessary, to give the GM time to locate a replacement. This will ensure a more orderly transition, and won't disrupt the game as much as now so often happens.
3. If you enter a game as a replacement player, stick it out to the end. There's nothing more frustrating to the GM and disruptive to a game than a replacement player who himself has to be replaced.
4. Try not to miss moves. Missed moves generally slow down a game, and hurt the other players as well as the move-misser.
5. Get your moves in on time, or even a day or two before the deadline. The earlier all the moves are in, the earlier the GM can publish the 'zine.
6. Write clearly, and use a separate piece of paper for each game. If you must list all games on one sheet of paper, at least write on only one side of the paper. You'd be surprised how much time this would save the GM -- and how many GM errors it would help to eliminate.
7. Obey the House-Rules, particularly where move-writing is concerned. Don't abbreviate; and be sure to write a separate and complete order for each unit.
8. Go easy on the propaganda. Space is at a premium in a 10-page magazine, and we'd rather have you limit your own propaganda, instead of our having to arbitrarily lop some off or omit it entirely.
9. Check the published moves, positions, etc. for the games you are in promptly upon receipt of the 'zine, and, if you discover any errors, let the GM know right away. This will also help avoid lengthy delays in the game.
10. Send moves in by mail; use the telephone only as a very last resort.
11. Try to anticipate your SUMMER retreats & send them along with your SPRING moves. Likewise, try to anticipate your AUTUMN retreats & WINTER builds/removals & send them along with your FALL moves. Vice versa, if SUMMER retreats are called for, also send in FALL moves by the SUMMER deadline; and if AUTUMN/WINTER orders are specified, also send in SPRING moves by the AUTUMN/WINTER deadline. We realize such advance orders are not always feasible because of the complexity or delicacy of a situation, but if most players would do this in most games, at least three or four weeks per game-year could be saved.
12. If you don't like something, let the GM know -- but try to remember he is serving many other players as well, and he can't possibly please all of the players all of the time, no matter how hard he may try. (Roster at end of 'zine)

Ghost Land -- Long Wig again returned to consult the Spirit of Kill-a-Lot. And the Spirit spoke: The Apache braves are old women whom even a ghost may kill. Many die this season as they claim what they own not, shooting off white man's thunder sticks and drunk with white eyes' firewater. Much firewater must an Apache drink before he fights, and even more to claim lands and slaves. But there is but one slave -- the Apache -- the white eye's dog. ##### Come Great Brother Haienthwatha, come and help kill Apaches and Shoshoni coyotes. Fire walks among the offenders -- they go down to defeat.

Propaganda --

Berlin -- We regret that the German Queen saw fit not to join the Grand Alliance, and assure her that we have no hostilities toward her in other time lines.

Bre/Tri -- Bel/Gre: Ha! on you. Now I really blew it!

Rome -- The Italian National Liberation Front's campaign of liberation for Italy is reaching its conclusion. The Slovenians, the only force standing in its way, will soon be expelled.

St. Petersburg -- The Crinines apologise for their attack on the Norwegians, the reasons for which were detailed in correspondence with the King of Norway. They also reaffirm their alliance with the King of Poland, and their undying enmity for the Duke of Moscow.

NSG -- The ASDP now claims to have overcome WASP in more than 3/7 of the Continent.

NSG -- The WASP asserts that its total control of Africa, the Dark Continent, and its ascendancy in Asia, far outweigh the "limited and temporary" gains of the ASDP in Europe even though WASP's origins seem to lie in medieval Europe.

NSG -- Number One today announced that the organization sometimes known as SIC (the Secret International Conspiracy) had agreed to a division of Europe (and the rest of the world) among the members of its Ultimate Council. More details were promised at a later date.

GM Notes -- Remember that Alliances may be announced this coming WINTER (to be acceptable, both parties in an Alliance must announce simultaneously). ##### A player has asked for a ruling on the situation: ENG: A StP (H); AA Fin (S) A StP; AA Nwy-StP; RUS: AAA Mos-StP. Our ruling is (and we hope we're consistent with past rulings in multi-piece games) that all succeed but the RUS move. For a more detailed explanation, refer to SUPERCAL #16, GM Note #3 under SCC (in HYDRO #1, page 5). Note that, in the above example, if the move "AA Fin (S) A StP" were omitted, the move "AA Nwy-StP" would have been stood off; and if the move "AA Fin (S) A StP" were omitted and the move "A StP (H)" read, instead, "A StP (S) AA Nwy-StP", the move "AA Nwy-StP" would also have been stood off. Ah, the complexity of it all! (Shudder)
